

Eric Newman <ericnumis106@gmail.com>

update1 message

To: ericNumis@aol.com

Thu, Dec 3, 2009 at 2:57 PM

Hi Eric- I hope all is well with you.

I finally am back on track on my metals fingerprinting project for ingots and coins. After a frustrating three years where the Patriot act prevented me from sending ingots to The University of Western Australia for testing, I have a new relationship with Florida Institute of Technology (Gordon Nelson), the space guys. Hopefully, I'll get some new papers published in the next 6 months.

Stuart Levine said he forwarded you one or more of my recorded papers I presented at one of the Annual ANA's. Hope you liked them.

We have a sale of American Saloon tokens coming next week, and I didn't know if this would be a good area of numismatics for your museum collection, so I thought I'd ask. The material is generally so rare, most numismatists have never heard of them. We could get you a hard copy of the catalog if you like, or it is on line at our web site, www.holabirdamericana.com

Thanks,

Fred Holabird